

U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service

National Conservation Training Center

Training Announcement

Conservation Coaches Network Workshop

ALC3158

Course Description

This course will be an advanced level short course for those who have experience with the Open Standards format and have usually already led teams. This course consists of a combination of short presentations and practical exercises using real projects provided by a few of the participants. This course heavily utilizes practice and peer review that are designed to forge a strong coach-training cohort of Open Standards practitioners. Important: as mentioned previously, this course is for those who have experience with the Open Standards for Conservation format. If you are interested in learning more about Open Standards for Conservation, please consider the course ALC3128: Open Standards for the Practice of Conservation.

Objectives

Upon completion of this course, you will be able to:

- Provide support and coaching on the practice of Open Standards for Conservation
- Develop a network of fellow coaches and participants who use the Open Standards for Conservation practice

Date

January 29-February 2, 2018

Location

National Conservation Training Center

Who Should Attend

Federal and State biologists and managers who work on natural resource issues and have experience working with Open Standards for Conservation format.

Length

4.5 days/36 hours

College Credit

2 semester hour

Tuition

Tuition for FWS is prepaid. $995.00 for all other participants.

To Register

Register online at <http://training.fws.gov> using DOI Learn.

Availability

This course is offered once per year.

Contact

Course Leader: John Ossanna,
304.876.7476 (office) or
John_Ossanna@fws.gov

Logistic Questions: Brenda Hooper,
304-876-7449 (office) or
Brenda_Hooper@fws.gov